Be inspired by Louie only on the CITV channel, all you need are crayons and paper! Louie loves to draw, something that's reflected in the bold graphic style of the show itself. Set in simple surroundings, Louie and his best friend Yoko the ladybird, embark on adventures initiated by his drawings. Whether it's a boat, an umbrella, or a new house, Louie and Yoko use the drawings to learn about opposites, shapes, colours and sounds. The real magic of it all is that when the drawing is coloured in, it becomes real. Suddenly, Louie and Yoko are able to sail the boat, use the umbrella to keep them dry, or play in their new house. Every episode marks the beginning of a brand new adventure for Louie and the audience, with an opportunity every time to draw along with Louie at home. Based on the best-selling French picture books Didou, CITV is extremely proud to premier this charming programme.

Fun, colourful and a true celebration of childhood, this is an unforgettable introduction to an irresistible new pre-school character. Paz is brave, he's adventurous, he's curious, he loves fish cookies and he's the cutest little penguin around. He lives in a beautifully bright coloured world in an igloo house with his mum, Big Penguin. He's very close to his beloved grandpa, Pappy, who encourages Paz to go out and explore life, and to be an adventurer. Every episode Paz and his pals, Dog, Pig and Rabbit, embark on a new adventure, uniting a world of fantasy and the world that exists around them. Introducing everyday situations familiar to the pre-school audience, and inspiring an air of optimism and innocence, Paz and his friends sing songs, make up stories, play and pretend to their hearts content. Based on the 'Little Penguin' books by Irish children's author Mary Murphy, Paz is launching exclusively on CITV.

Learning Through Laughter

Meet Pocoyo, an unforgettable little boy with a very big personality. Pocoyo is one of CITV's flagship pre-school programmes, and is narrated by actor Stephen Fry, who guides Pocoyo with gentle humour as he explores the world around him. Pocoyo has a strong educational content, but never sacrifices its entertainment value or sense of fun. In fact, Pocoyo and his friends, Ellie, Loula, Pato and Sleepy Bird, encourage the viewer to learn through laughter, rather than leaving them feeling they have been taught. The characters, storylines, sounds and visual appeal of Pocoyo have been carefully researched to ensure that it's perfectly tailored to encourage child development. Pocoyo takes pre-school entertainment one step further. It is visually very different to any other pre-school programme. Its innovative use of CGI animation allows Pocoyo to become a very real child – he moves, talks, plays and learns like a toddler, and he can sulk and throw tantrums like only a toddler can! Written by Andy Yerkes, best known for Bear in the Big Blue House, Pocoyo will take toddlers on a journey of learning through laughter in a revolutionary programme designed to entertain and educate parents and children.

Already a favourite on CITV, Engie and Jollop, voiced by TV favourites Ant and Dec, are getting a second home on the CITV channel! Engie Benjy is a vibrant, imaginative programme for pre-school viewers – and their parents! Engie himself is a Doctor Dolittle for engines, and helps to make things better in all sorts of ways for his friends and their vehicles. His engine mending team – Dan the Van and Jollop the Dog, can solve any engine trouble around.

Imagination knows no bounds in the magical, colourful and exciting world of Engie Benjy. Planes creep out to have parties at night and buses get tired and need holidays. Fisherman Fin and Boat are afraid of the sea, and woodland trees leap into the sky to play with Spaceship. Even the weather is fun, with Farmer Fred's fruity fizz cloud watering the ice-lolly fields every day. Join Engie Benjy and his friends every day on the CITV channel and make things better!

The CITV channel is home to all your favourite pre-school characters including Dora the Explorer. Her world is a colourful place, where solving problems becomes a play-along adventure. This unstoppable heroine guides kids through many new paths of learning and fun while learning Spanish along the way. Every adventure has an objective, and Dora with her best friend, a monkey named Boots, face many obstacles they must overcome. When they finally do make it to their destination, kids know that Dora could not have made it without them!

Meet the Boohbahs, the brilliantly interactive show for pre-schoolers from Ragdoll, the creators of Teletubbies. Humbah, Zumbah, Zing Zing Zingbah, Jumbah and Jingbah – five sparkling atoms of mischievous energy and fun that allow the children to control the screen action by using the magical word 'Boohbah'. The Boohbahs gallop, bounce, spin and dance and have an infectious impact on children who are encouraged to join in. Travelling the world in their Boohball, they visit children, introducing Storyworld characters like Mrs Lady, Mr Man, Grandmamma, Grandpappa, Brother and Sister, Auntie and Little Dog Fido. Children are encouraged to make up stories about the characters, predict different endings and develop thinking skills through the art of comedy.

Mopatop's Shop is open for business! It's the only store on the High Street where you can get anything you want – a rainbow, a bee's knee, a cloud, or even a friend. Mopatop is the big, friendly proprietor of the magical store, and along with his helpful assistant Puppyduck, are ready to serve up anything their customers may desire. Money is never exchanged in the shop, instead the currency is a song, or a dance in exchange for a wish! While the two friends go about their business, they are observed from above by Moosey, a mischievous little mouse who lives with his family in the attic over the shop. With puppets devised by The Jim Henson Company, and made at Henson's Muppet Workshop in New York, Mopatop's Shop is a quality show for pre-schoolers, designed to entertain and delight, as well as nurture the imagination of the viewer.

Welcome to the factory! It's fun, it's exciting and it makes fab songs! Join Ozzy, the Fun Song Factory Foreman, his nephew Little Harry and the five Fun Song crew as they search for clues to the songs that will help them with the problem or task of the day. The Fun Song crew is made up of five workers, each with their very own job to carry out within the factory itself. Melody is in charge of the music, OJ is the factory-fixer when things go wrong, Page loves books and looks after the factory archives, Cookie provides the lunch in the factory canteen, and Cal takes care of actions and movement. Between them, they've got fun covered every day at the Fun Song Factory. In every show, the Fun Song crew gets the young audience involved with singing the action songs, solving the puzzles and having fun fun fun! Viewers can join in too, singing and dancing along to the songs they know and love, plus a whole host of new ones. Factories have never been so fun!

Bafta winning Ripley and Scuff charge through the CITV channel pre-school schedule every day, bringing high energy entertainment with them! Ripley and Scuff travel all over the country in their super-powered jet car, visiting towns and schools and meeting children, inviting them – and the viewers – to share in their adventures and have a Top Banana time! There's lots of music, lots of fun, and lots of good old-fashioned messing around! Join in with Ripley and Scuff, and dance and sing along with Ripley's Rascals, their very own rock band! Meet Grandad Gordon, who's always ready to give a helping hand, especially when it comes to drawing and making loads of brilliant things.

There's Strid, the boys' little sister, who loves to join in with all the fun, and last but not least, Bargie, Ripley and Scuff's pet baby doggy-monster! He's supposed to stay behind in the cave but always manages to come along for the ride! Fasten your seatbelts and jump into the jet powered car for the ultimate ride in pre-school entertainment.

Another Bafta award winner for the CITV channel! Hilltop Hospital is a wonderful place where people can go to get better whether they have two legs, four legs or even a hundred! This is ER for little ones, a fantastic pre-school medical soap-opera with more bounce than a baby bunny! Hilltop is a hospital run for animals by animals, and is guaranteed to appeal to aspiring doctors and nurses whatever their age! The friendly hospital staff make sure Hilltop Hospital keeps running properly and helps all sorts of animals in need – from giraffes with sore necks to over-heated penguins, hyper hedgehogs and snakes who have lost their slither! The dedicated staff ought to fight like cats and dogs but they pull together to cope with the heart-rending and the hilarious. It's all in a day's work at Hilltop!

The only girls with a passion for fashion are getting their own TV show, and it's happening exclusively on the CITV channel. Catch the first episode on Saturday 11th March on Holly and Stephen's Saturday Showdown and meet best friends Cloe, Yasmin, Jade and Sasha. They'll show you how they juggle their cool teen mag, school work and personal life in these high stylin' CGI episodes. Packed full of funky fashions, friendship and flirtation, the Bratz girls are the best at finding adventures that take them from high school, to exotic far-flung cities – and even to outer space. Life in the Bratz camp isn't always peaches and cream though, particularly where rival magazine editor Burdine Maxwell is concerned. Burdine has long blonde hair, only wears pink and considers herself fashion royalty – can the girls take on the ageing queen of fashion and inject some of their own cool and funky style? Don't miss the UK premier of Bratz the TV series every day at 4.30pm on the channel to find out. It's going to rock your world!

Get your laughing gear round the new children's sitcom launching only on the CITV channel. Uncle Dad stars the kids from hell, their off-the-wall uncle, and if that wasn't enough to keep the drama coming, a house full of exotic animals! The Devlin children are a bunch of feisty brothers and sisters who are dumped on their eccentric Uncle Roy. There's Justin, who at 16 is the eldest of the Devlin children. He's a pretty serious type, and is used to taking on the role of head of the family. Although in some ways older than his years, he's not very experienced with the fairer sex, and he battles with his geek image that sometimes masks the fact he's a really nice guy. Then there's rebel sister Charlie, whose ambition is to make it as a thrash guitarist, and in stark contrast, Anna, the obsessively tidy mother figure, whose greatest dream is to be Head Prefect. Wind up merchant Elliot is the prankster of the family and youngest member, Debs, may be the baby of the group but she is the wisest. Debs hasn't spoken since their mother died but seems totally happy within herself. In place of speech she expresses her feelings through drawing and she also happens to be a compulsive knitter. Above all, the Devlins stick together and poor Uncle Roy, a single, self-sufficient anthropologist, is far more comfortable dealing with exotic animals and jungle tribes than children like the Devlins. Uncle Roy is determined to get rid of the unruly children, but the kids are equally determined to stay. In a house that is part jungle, part zoo (and all mad), Uncle Roy and the kids battle it out to decide whose rules prevail. Book in with Uncle Dad for lots of laughs and animal action every weekend on the CITV channel.

Step aside Indiana Jones and make way for Michael Underwood! The award-winning Jungle Run is one of CITV's top rating shows and a brilliant action adventure game show. The breathtaking set is one of the biggest in the country, and is packed full of genuine jungle plants, creeping vines and exotic animals. Jungle Run takes teams of intrepid young explorers on a quest through a series of death-defying tropical games and jungle challenges, designed to test the nerve of any budding hero. With Michael Underwood as their fearless guide, the teams scale pyramid walls, swing across rivers of volcanic lava and open ancient tombs trying to win monkey statues along their way. The ultimate mission is to collect enough monkeys to buy them time in the show's infamous final destination – The Temple of the Jungle King. With fantastic prizes on offer there's everything to play for . . . but as the clock counts down there's also the risk that you'll get locked inside for ever!

Naughty children get a taste of their own nasty medicine in this award winning creepy cartoon. Grizzly Tales is a long-running favourite on CITV. Adapted from the books by Jamie Rix and voiced by actor Nigel Planer (The Young Ones), these spine-chilling stories serve as modern-day cautionary tales to naughty children everywhere. Best behaviour is the order of the day, otherwise you might find yourself getting into a sticky situation. Evil little girls are stuffed and sold off as teddy bears, greedy boys are turned into sage and onion sausages, and bothersome brothers are sent to the deepest, darkest bowels of the earth. Each episode begins with a creepy cinema owner emerging from the dingy depths of the projectionist's room. As he sets the show reel rolling, keep your eyes peeled for the gruesome grub wriggling around in the popcorn box, sit back, and enjoy the show . . .

One of the greatest TV heroes of all time has arrived on the CITV channel - welcome back Sooty! He's got a new home and he's settling in just fine. This little yellow bear is known all over the world for his cheekiness, blatant naughtiness and total silence, and has fans across all generations. His friends, Sweep and Soo, are equally as famous and join him on the channel for plenty of mischief and fun at Hotel Sooty. Despite his good intentions, Sooty usually manages to misinterpret most things said or suggested by Richard, Manager of Hotel Sooty. This results in utter chaos, taking the combined puppet power of Sooty, Sweep and Soo to help get Richard and Vicky out of trouble. With the reputation of the hotel to hold up, and plenty of day to day running to organise, Sooty and his friends have plenty on their plates – and plenty to go wrong! CITV is very excited to bring Sooty to a whole new generation of viewers.

Breathtaking animation meets mind-blowing action in this dramatic CITV series, based on the original Captain Scarlet and the Mysterons. Every episode packs all the punch of a blockbuster movie, and with Scarlet no longer held back by his strings, the latest motion capture techniques and CGI animation brings the series bang up to date for a new generation of fans. The story begins 20 years after man's first steps on Mars, and follows the adventures of the security force Spectrum in its attempts to protect Earth from the evil Mysterons. Spectrum agents Captain Scarlet and Captain Black are assigned to investigate mysterious signals emanating from Mars. Finding an alien city, Black launches an attack, angering the Mysterons, who capture him and turn him into one of them. Captain Scarlet manages to escape but the attack leaves him with a genetic condition making him virtually indestructible. Putting his new found strength, and the Spectrum team, to the test, Scarlet and his friends embark on their biggest battle yet – Earth versus Mars. Scheduled to show on the Channel at weekends, Captain Scarlet is set to become a firm family favourite.

You can keep your David Blaines and Dom Jolys, stand by to be amazed as CITV presenter Stephen Mulhern presents a magic show with a difference. With hidden cameras and celebrities as part of the line up, this is a show that promises to shock and entertain! For the first time ever, magic and wind-ups have been put together in a show especially formulated for kids. Packed full of surprise stunts, wicked wind-ups and top tricks, every episode sees Stephen going undercover on the streets of the UK to perform some classic wind-ups on members of the public. He might be disguised as the loudest librarian in Leeds one day, or a useless ice cream seller in a busy shopping centre in Manchester the next. And who knows what will happen when London Zoo allows Stephen, masquerading as a bumbling, ageing zoo keeper, to mind the insect house? Not only do viewers get to see some of the coolest magic tricks around, but Stephen will also teach them how to do some brilliant tricks at home. Now that's magic!

Find out what Holly Willoughby and Steve Wilson nightmares are made of as we put pressure on these two CITV stars to experience what scares them most! Feel the Fear reveals their 'caught on camera' behaviour as each week Holly and Steve take it in turns to face their particular phobias with the guidance of popular TV psychologist Anjula Mutanda. Every episode opens with a phonecall from the challenging presenter, who reveals which fear they are challenging their co-host to face. Will it be sharks, spiders, rats – or maybe heights, rollercoasters or flying? Holly and Steve will have their heart rate monitored to gauge the extent of their fear. Feel the Fear is packed full of interesting facts about how fear works and where our phobias come from, as well as revealing insights about the presenters from their friends and family, including MOM's Stephen Mulhern, and video diary footage from Holly and Steve themselves. Feel the Fear is not a battle of physical prowess but of mind over matter and determination to conquer fear. Holly Willoughby vs Steve Wilson – who will be the bravest? Find out on the CITV channel.
